

CENTER SERIES COMPTROLLER SERIES

The NASA Budget Administration Manual describes the POP as "a time-phased work program expressed in terms of dollars and other resources (manpower) required to accomplish planned objectives. The POP serves as a basis for developing the NASA Operating Budget to support apportionment requests and distribution of resources authority, and to provide a plan to follow for orderly and efficient use of resources authorized for specific projects contained therein." POP's are affected by Congressional actions or changes in requirements made between budget formulation and the enactment of an appropriation bill. The Program Operating Plans in this subseries are filed chronologically by POP year. At the end of the series is a Financial and Contractual Status Report that lists program and project expenditures by account number. The document lists moneys spent for current as well as past programs. The material is dated from 1962 to 1979.
