

In 1905, the first Methodist Church on Hall Street opened its doors. As it was the only church to serve the area, it was considered a community church, but was always served by a Methodist minister. Easter Sunday marked the first services given in the new sanctuary by Rev. Peter Nicholson.