

SKYLAB SERIESNORTH AMERICAN ROCKWELL CONTRACTOR REPORTS

Prior to September 22, 1967, North American Rockwell was called North American Aviation (after February 16, 1973, it was renamed Rockwell International). This company was to become one of the major contractors of the Skylab Program, assuming responsibility for the command and service modules. The reports in this subseries include monthly progress reports, design configurations, safety and quality reports, system reports, financial reports, and operations handbooks produced for the Program. Most of the documents were generated in 1969; the inclusive dates run from 1965 -1970.
