

In 1900, the community's first school, Seabrook Grammar School, was constructed near the present location of NASA Road 1 and Third Street. It was the only area school for thirty years, serving students in first through seventh grades. Older students attended nearby Webster High School.