Biographical/Historical Note (545)

The University of Houston-Clear Lake Print Shop was created at the founding of the University in 1974. After January 1981 all graphic design for offset printing was done by Richard Adams. The Print Shop was originally a separate department from the Copy Center, however because of the technological shift from offset to digital printing, the two offices were combined in 2013.

Scope and Content (520)

The Print Shop materials were donated in 2013 and were previously the sample collection of Print Shop Director Richard Adams. The collection is comprised of 14 document boxes and 2 flat boxes and contains material produced by the University of Houston-Clear Lake Print Shop from 1976-2012. Items in the document boxes include a variety of stationary, business cards, certificates, promotional flyers, and the prototypes and print copies used to produce them. The 2 flat boxes hold large posters and their prototypes. Most items are directly related to University departments, events, or organizations. However, because the Print Shop did commercial printing there are also items produced for local businesses and organizations not affiliated with the University.
